

Industry: Non Profit organization

Table of contents:

- i. Introduction
- ii. Challenges
- iii. Solution
- iv. Benefits

Summary:

This case study shows how Docsvault helped a public charity foundation to save cost on printing and reduce paper trail.

“Cost is reasonable and support has been very good. I would recommend that everyone try it.”

– Gail Tobin (American Endowment Foundation)

Read more about Docsvault’s uses in Non Profit Organization here

Introduction

American Endowment Foundation is a public charity foundation doing donor advised funds. They were tired of having too much paper and not having access to files easily.

Challenges

Non-profit organizations have to rely completely on funding allocated by funders, which means they have to handle responsibilities in a limited budget. This makes it very important for them to enhance their management but without going above their allocated resources. Some of the other challenges in American Endowment Foundation were:

- Poor document management and storage leading to difficulties in accessing files
- Too much paper

Solution

To solve their problems of too much paper and poor filing system, American Endowment Foundation turned to Docsvault.

Benefits

One of the most important features of Docsvault that appealed to American Endowment Foundation was its simple interface, which was similar to Windows XP. They also found Docsvault easy to install and use.

They were able to print documents easily to Docsvault because of its integration with MS Office products. They also found the PDF manipulation options such as splitting and extracting pages and rotation useful. Powerful search feature and document linking were other features that were useful for this organization.