

Document Relations

Document Relations allow grouping and easy access of documents filed in different locations throughout the Docsvault repository. Users can set relations between documents and folders that are associated with each other and are needed for reference in future. All associated documents appear in the 'Related Documents' tab at the bottom panel for easy viewing.

Highlights

- ✓ Allows users to relate documents and folders within the repository
- ✓ Valuable associated data becomes readily available for reference
- ✓ Improves productivity by helping users save time on locating several documents spread across different folders and cabinets

What it means for you?

Setting relations between documents allows users to refer to associated documents instantly, so that they can make an informed decision by getting complete details pertaining to any task at hand. Document relations feature can prove to be of great help in situations where access to relative information is of essence. This means, you can make pertinent data more available which ultimately saves time on search and retrieval if related documents are easily accessible.

Set Relations

You can set relations between documents such as a client's contracts, invoices, project work, reference guides, etc. to organize your documents better and ensure you have easy access to necessary information.

Solutions

- E- Discovery
Document relations can prove to be a great tool when preparing for e-discovery as related materials are easily available
- Productivity
Quick access to related information means employees are better equipped and more productive

